ABOUT KAIZER, HOW IT ALL STARTED

Kaizer Federal and his passion for leather is what brought about the brand kaizer. An ardent lover of all things luxury, he developed an attention to detail early on in life. A trait he touched every business he developed. Prior to the launch of his label in 2009, he researched and studied both leather and

At kaizer, design takes center stage. We move away from traditional bag design, bring together various art streams from architecture, Product design to fine arts, to create interesting art pieces. Be it fluid forms or rigid structures, functionality is at the very core of every collection. A fresh perspective on design, every time.

Kaizer personally looks into the functionality and production of each every piece, ensuring the end product is not only different and interesting but at the same time functional.

At kaizer we strictly use leather that is only ethically sourced. Most leather comes from the finest quality cow hide and lamb skin. All leather used at kaizer is a byproduct of farming. The finest selection of raw hides is treated to perfection with vegetable tanning—an age-old craft dating as far back as the 6000 BCE is kept alive. Veg-tanning is an organic method relying on natural vegetable tannins from bark (from trees such as oak, chestnut, or mimosa) or other plant tissues.

Solid metal is used in all kaizer hardware. Base material used is stainless steel and brass making all Kaizer fittings sturdy for long term use. Heavy micron plating makes the hardware scratch resistant from everyday wear and tear.
